

Identifying Global Clinical Head:

Rare opportunity to take on exceptional research and lead managing to market entry

Developing a global business

A well-respected global business combining outstanding specialist expertise with a highly entrepreneurial spirit and well defined and effective decision making. They are founded and led by exceptionally experienced individuals with outstanding clinical experience. They have expertise and success in developing new uses for existing product as well as delivery systems to assure effective utilization and results for patients diagnosed with Osteo – Arthritis and related medical issues.

Recent leadership changes, continuous improvement, and enhancement of the executive roles suggest that the role of Global Clinical Head will be part of a team with a profound commitment to an achievable value proposition.

This is an outstanding opportunity for an executive level professional with experience in launching the utilization of data and research for re purposing existing product.

Taplow Solution

We initiated a search for a Professional with Doctoral degree, MD or PhD/post-doctoral equivalent research. We targeted senior professionals with 15+ years of experience in a pharma/bio-tech company, CRO, academic medical centre including non – clinical development experience. The required development of strategies and provide leadership to the non-clinical project teams by assuring scientific rationale, design and execution of projects as determined necessary for new product development, active clinical development, regulatory submissions, and product registration, in line with requirements and feedback from regulators.

Manage the collaboration necessary and accept responsibility for the development, budget management and oversight of the nonclinical team. Collaborate on these activities with the R&D team as well as other executive leaders as may be required

Outcome

Taplow US was able to map over 120 Professionals across US and presented a slate of 26 qualified and vetted individuals for review by the client leadership team. We were able to manage the detailed interview process and help client shortlist 3 finalist and select the most qualified one. The exhaustive interview and reference check followed by very engaged handholding resulted in onboarding the candidate as per timelines.

Executive Search

Sunil Gandhi
Managing Director- Technology & Innovation Practice - US
Taplow Executive Search
Cell# 732 771 5414
sgandhi@taplowes.com